

I. AND R. RESOLUTION FAILS OF PASSAGE IN HOUSE BY SINGLE VOTE

CLOSE VOTE ON INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM IS TAKEN AT ONE O'CLOCK THIS MORNING

On Original Roll Call Representative Killens Was Recorded as for the Resolution But Upon Verification He Announced that He Did Not Vote and the Clerk Struck His Name From Among Those Voting Aye--All Proposed Amendments Tabled.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., MAY 14.—Lacking one vote the initiative and referendum resolution failed to pass the house at 1 o'clock this morning. Without announcing the result of the roll call, Speaker McKinley put Karch's motion postponing further action and with the house in an uproar, declared it carried. He then declared carried under the gavel a motion adjourning the house until 10 a. m. today.

On the original roll call Representative Killens was recorded as for the resolution. This gave the resolution the required constitutional majority of 102 votes and a luscious about greeted the apparent passage of the resolution. On the verification of the roll, Killens made in recording him for the resolution that he did not vote and did not wish to be recorded.

Clerk McCann struck his name from those voting aye. "Announce the vote or I'll change my vote," shouted Representative Carter, Progressive, who had voted for the resolution. "And I shall change mine," shouted Representative H. A. Sheppard, who had cast what appeared to be the winning or 102nd vote, until Killens withdrew his name from the list of those voting aye.

Voting For Resolution.

Those voting for the resolution were:
Messrs. Baron, Bell, Blaha, Briscoe, Browne, Burns, Butts, Carmon, Carter, Cline, Cohnmeyer, Coleman, Costello, Crawford, J. M. Curran, Devine, Dickman, Dillon, Dudgeon, Dunn, Duval, R. A. Elliott, W. B. Elliot, Etherton, Fahy, Fargo, Fawell, Finley, Fitch, Flagg, Fleming, A. M. Foster, H. A. Foster, Garsche, Gillespie, Gorman, Graham, Graves, Groves, Grunau, Hartquist, Henry, Hubbard, Hunt, Huston, Hutchins, Johnson, Kane, Karch, Kasserman, Koch, Lovejoy, Lyon, Madison, Mason, McLehe, McCarthy, M. McCormick, McWilliams, E. E. Miller, Mitchell, Morrissy, Morris, Munroe, Meyers, O'Connell, O'Rourke, Poorman, Rapp, Richardson, Rinehard, Arthur Roe, Rothschild, Ryan, Scanlan, Schnackenberg, Schubert, Scott, F. W. Sheppard, Sherman, Simpson, Stedman, Strubinger, A. C. Thompson, R. R. Thompson, Tice, Trimarco, Luckner, Weber, Wirth, Williamson, R. E. Wilson, Wood, Zoller, Mr. Speaker, H. A. Sheppard and Baker, Total 104.

Nineteen members voted against the resolution the other three house members were reported present and not voting or absent. Under Karch's motion postponing further consideration an effort will be made to take up the resolution at the session Wednesday morning.

Fight Occupies Entire Day.

The initiative and referendum fight occupied the sole attention of the house of representatives to day throughout the morning, afternoon and night sessions.

When the night session was resumed at 8 o'clock after a two hours recess it was doubtful whether a vote on the resolution for constitutional amendment would be reached tonight, although both sides apparently were opposed to putting off final action until tomorrow. At that hour both sides were claiming victory.

The morning and afternoon sessions and part of the night session were devoted to the bill. The amendments to the resolution which had been prepared to meet the Republican conference idea what was necessary to make it safe, were not offered until the night session.

In all speeches were made either for or against the resolution. Representatives Karch, Cline, Gillespie, and Igoe spoke for the Democratic side in favor of the resolution. Representatives Edward J. King, George H. Wilson, Judson E. Harris and William McKinley, Republicans, opposed it. Representative McMill McCormick, Progressive; and Seymour Stedman, Socialist, represented their parties speaking for the resolution.

Debaters Use the Bible.

Twice during the afternoon session the bible was brought into use by the debaters. Representative King read from the good book first. Later Representative Stedman used it. Both used Gideon bibles, such as are commonly used in hotels.

Representative King who spoke for the Republican side occupied in all about 2 hours time. Frequent efforts were made to curtail his time but King met the onslaughts and came off victorious.

Prize For Shortest Speech.

Representative Cline, Democrat, followed King. In recognizing him, McKinley declared he was going to offer a box of cigars to the member making the shortest speech.

When Representative McCormick concluded speaking Representative King asked:

"Would the initiative and referendum have prevented the remonetization of silver at one time in 1896?"

"I married a daughter of Mark Haan," responded Representative McCormick "and in consequence I think I ought not to answer that."

"And a McKinley ought not to rule on it," facetiously interposed the speaker.

"Well then would the initiative and referendum disfranchise the negro?" questioned King.

"I think not," answered McCormick.

Replying to Representative Stedman, the Socialist member, Representative Wilson, Republican, said he had heard the president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor say that the workmen of Illinois worked under better conditions and were better paid than any other state in the union.

"That means," continued Wilson, "that they are better off than the workmen in the states that have the initiative and referendum."

Representative Igoe wanted to know of Representative Wilson when the latter concluded speaking, if Wilson did not vote for the initiative and referendum resolution in the house two years ago.

"Yet," responded Wilson, "I voted for it because I was a fool and did not know it."

More Piver ti Chicago.

Wilson charged that the Democratic representatives from Cook county wanted the initiative and referendum as a means to obtaining a re-apportionment which would increase Chicago's representation. He said that constitutional change would enable Chicago's large population to enact laws beneficial to Chicago, regardless of downstate interests and put the rest of the state at the mercy of Chicago.

All committee meetings called for the afternoon and evening were called off in order to give full attention to the big subject of the day.

Moves Substitute Resolution.

Shortly after 10 p. m. at the conclusion of the main debate over the resolution, Representative Morton Denison Hull, Republican of Chicago, moved a substitute resolution providing that a "majority of those voting at the election" instead of a "majority of those voting on the proposition" should be the wording in the majority clause. Otherwise the Hull substitute was the same as the original resolution.

Representative Karch, Democrat, moved that the Hull substitute be tabled and on the motion of Karch, Speaker McKinley ordered a roll call.

The vote on Representative Karch's motion to table the Hull substitute was 83 to 63.

Republicans Together.

The Republicans in the house voted solidly for the Hull substitute. Representative Burns, Democrat of Chicago, after the defeat of the Hull substitute, moved to amend the original resolution by making it read that the total necessary signatures for initiating legislation may be obtained in any section or part of state.

The original provided that not more than 50 per cent of such signatures should be obtained in Cook county.

Representative George Wilson, Republican of Quincy, moved to table the Burns amendment. Speaker McKinley again ordered a roll call. The vote to table the Burns amendment resulted, yeas 111, nays 32, and the Burns amendment was declared lost.

Representative Tice of Menard county, Republican, then moved to amend the resolution to make 70 per cent of the signatures from the state outside of Cook county, necessary.

Representative Grenau of Chicago moved to table the Tice amendment. On roll call the Tice amendment was tabled. Ayes 109, nays 29.

Representative Abbott, Republican of Whiteside county, offered an amendment adding a section providing that the powers granted by the initiative and referendum shall never be used with reference to senatorial or congressional apportionment.

Representative Abbott spoke on his amendment, declaring that it was essential to protect "downstate from Chicago."

Representative Catlin of Chicago, Republican, moved to table the Abbott amendment, declaring that because of the failure to reapportion the state since the 1910 federal census, Chicago lacked nine members in the legislature to which it was justly entitled.

Table Abbott Amendment.

Sharp debate occurred between a half dozen members before the roll was called on the motion to table the Abbott amendment.

The vote on Representative Catlin's motion to table the Abbott amendment resulted, ayes 103, nays 32, and the amendment was declared tabled.

Although it was after 11 o'clock at this juncture the galleries remained crowded with spectators and lobbyists and Speaker McKinley said (Continued on Page Six)

U. S. STEEL CO. AS TRADE BENEFACTOR

Is Made Subject of the Testimony of President
James A. Farrell

HAS INCREASED WAGES

Since the Organization of the Corporation the Wages of It's Employees Raised 28 Per Cent

AVERAGE WAGE NOW $856.70

NEW YORK, MAY 13.—The United States Steel corporation as an industrial benefactor was the subject of today's testimony of James A. Farrell its president, in the government suit to dissolve the corporation under the Sherman anti-trust law.

It was Mr. Farrell's second day on the stand for the defense.

He testified that the corporation manufactured cotton ties for the cotton growers of the south because its competitors found the business unattractive and had practically abandoned it. The corporation he said always gave preference to government work and in a recent instance had neglected other business to rush an order of steel pilings to New Orleans in order to save the levees from the flood. It used its enormous stocks of pig-iron to prevent speculators from cornering the commodity and sold it to its competitors at cost when attempts to corner it caused a scarcity.

Since it's organization, he testified the corporation had raised the wages of its employees 28 1-2 per cent, adding $40,000,000 a year to its payroll. The average wage of employees in 1901 was $716.88 and last year it was $856.70.

American Steel and Wire Co.

Mr. Farrell gave a clean bill of health to the American Steel and Wire company, one of the subsidiaries of the corporation which the government alleges is a monopoly in itself. He quoted many figures to show that of the hundreds of different kinds of wire products which the company manufactured its percentage of production was less than half of the country's total output, and in one instance he named a so-called independent concern as the manufacturer of as much as 75 per cent.

Answering the charge that owing to the community of interest between railroads and the steel corporation, the corporation was favored over other manufacturers in buying steel, Mr. Farrell said that it was the custom of the railroads to get their supplies from the steel mills and were therefore aliens having no ownership of the corporation.

The steel corporation he repeated had made every effort to push its foreign trade and while the corporation had been able to obtain higher prices for its export products, prices to domestic consumers had grown cheaper. He added that the foreign business of the corporation was now being threatened by new steel plants in Australia which could mine and assemble raw material and manufacture steel at a lower cost than the corporation.

SHRINERS AT DALLAS.

Dallas, Texas, May 13.—More than 100 temples of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, were represented tonight in a brilliant parade which included two score Arab patrols with their bands. Besides these several thousand members of the order not in uniform passed in review before the imperial potentate, W. J. Cunningham of Baltimore. The imperial potentate made his formal report today at the first business session of the convocation. He reported a membership of 185,446, a net gain for the year of 18,790, divided among a total of 133 temples. The imperial council had funds on March 1st of $114,421.

GET NATURALIZATION PAPERS.

Joliet, Ills., May 13.—John Martin a court house employee and John Ward, a law student after having exercised all the rights of citizens for years, were today granted naturalization papers by Judge Dibel. The fact was discovered recently that neither man could produce his father's citizenship papers and were therefore aliens having come to this country as children.

Martin has signed hundreds of petitions for papers for foreigners but it has been decided that Martin's naturalization would legalize their citizenship.

ROBBERS MAKE DARING ATTEMPT.

Rock Island, Ill., May 13.—Climbing up upon the rods of a Rock Island express and baggage car, two robbers early this morning managed to maintain a foot hold while the train was moving seventy miles an hour, smashed the glass door and stole baggage and other valuables amounting to $100. As the robbers alighted in the local yards, one, who gave his name as Harry Fulton, claiming to be a railroad switchman, was captured by Harry Flannagan, a baggageman, and turned over to the police. The other escaped.

CONVICT JOHNSON ON ALL SEVEN COUNTS

FIGHTER IS FOUND GUILTY OF VIOLATING MANN LAW

Jury Returns Verdict After an Hours Deliberation—Maximum Penalty Five Years Imprisonment, $10,000 Fine or Both—Will Argue New Trial May 19.

CHICAGO, MAY 13.—Jack Johnson, champion heavy-weight prize fighter was found guilty tonight of violating the Mann law in transporting Belle Schriber from Pittsburg to Chicago in 1910. He was convicted on all seven counts in the indictment. The jury returned its verdict after an hour's deliberation.

The maximum penalty under the finding is five years imprisonment or $10,000 fine or both. A motion of assistant District Attorney Harry Parkin and Johnson be ordered confined in the county jail was overruled by Judge Carpenter and the negro was released on bond of $10,000. A motion for a new trial was filed at once by counsel for Johnson and arguments on the motion were set for May 19. Johnson was charged with having furnished Belle Schriber with $75 with which to come from Pittsburg to Chicago. The woman testified that on her arrival here, Johnson had furnished a flat which she said had been devoted to immoral purposes. She also described trips around the country which she said had been made with the prize-fighter and at his expense.

This was in 1910, just before the marriage of Johnson to Elita Duryea the divorced wife of an eastern horse man. She shot herself to death eight months ago leaving letters to her mother brooding over her social downfall and her neglect.

Two months later Johnson was arrested by Chicago police on the charge of having abducted Lucille Cameron, the 18 year old daughter of Mrs. Cameron-Falconet of Minneapolis, Minn., who had been employed as cashier at Johnson's restaurant. These charges were dropped and Johnson and the Cameron girl were married.

It was during the police investigation of Johnson's affair with the Minneapolis girl that facts were unearthed which resulted in the prize-fighters' indictment by a federal grand jury in connection with the Schriber woman.

Denies Woman's Story.

Testifying in his own behalf to day Johnson denied the woman's statement that he had given her money to come here.

Four ballots were taken by the jury tonight, the first ballot being four for acquittal and eight for conviction. James Bruce, a grain dealer of Marseilles, Ill., was foreman of the jury. Two counts of the indictment were dismissed at the request of Judge Carpenter, who declared that no good purpose could be served by airing unnecessary details of the relations of Johnson and the woman.

Lucille Cameron Johnson his present wife, did not appear in the court room at any time during the trial, his attorney's fearing the effect of her presence.

The negro's mother, however, sat constantly at his side.

The suggestion of Johnson's golden smile, which had been on his lips during the time of jury deliberations faded when the clerk pronounced the word "guilty." Johnson sat solemnly in his seat until Attorney Parkin's motion that the fighter be taken into custody was denied, when he slipped quietly from his seat and made his way from the court alone.

DR. NEILL RESIGNS.

Washington, May 13.—Dr. Charles P. Neill, United States commissioner of labor since 1905 and recently made commissioner of labor statistics in the new department of labor, resigned today to take a position with the American Smelting and Refining company, to organize and conduct its labor department. In a statement today Dr. Neill said that the offer came to him from President Daniel Guggenheim through William L. Loomis, Jr., managing director of the Guggenheim corporations.

ACCUSED OF WIFE MURDER.

Minot, N. D., May 13.—John Staff of this city was today accused by a coroner's jury of having murdered his wife, who it is claimed was shot to death Sunday. The evidence on which the jury based its decision, was given by Staff's 12 year old daughter.

The girl said that her father and mother quarrelled Sunday and that the former had frequently threatened to kill his wife. He is being held without bail.

UNABLE TO IDENTIFY MURDERED MAN.

Chicago, May 13.—John Lettice and Elmer Cuesco, charged with the murder of Hugh R. Hopkins four years ago were liberated today because the state was unable to prove the identity of the murdered man. Representatives of the state said they had searched in vain since 1909 for a relative or friend of the dead man who could tell the jury that Hopkins was dead.

INSANE MAN SUICIDES.

Elgin, Ill., May 13.—Frank McCort, 4619 West Madison street, who had been an inmate at the state insane asylum here was found this morning hanging by a rope from the crane of a work car near this city. McCort escaped from the asylum late yesterday.

Went into executive session to consider nominations.

Republicans resumed fight against confirmation of W. J. Harris as director of the census and prevented action after several hours debate.

Adjourned at 8:45 p. m. until noon tomorrow.

House.

Not in session, meets noon Thursday.

WASHINGTON, MAY 13.—Senator Simmons, chairman of the finance committee and Senator Penrose, leading the Republicans fight to refer the Underwood bill with instructions for public hearings delivered oratorical broadsides against each other in the senate to day in debate on the Penrose amendment which will be resumed tomorrow.

Senator Penrose likened the secret caucus of the tariff bill to the "methods of Spanish inquisition" and brought laughter from both sides when he described the caucus and declared no one was present to witness the "murder of American industry."

Senator Simmons declared that if the Democratic purpose to eliminate hearings could be called reprehensible, it was the first time the Democratic party had copied the methods of the Republicans and he argued at length why public hearings were not necessary, averring that they were not demanded.

Wants Lumber on Free List.

During the debate Senator Penrose referred to Senator Simmons, attitude on the lumber schedule four years ago when Payne-Aldrich bill was under consideration. Senator Simmons answered that the Underwood bill provided for everything he advocated four years ago if lumber was to be placed on the free list.

"That being so," he said, "I will vote with pleasure for free lumber."

Senator Bristow offered an amendment to the sugar schedule providing for graduated reductions for two three year periods at end of which time refined sugar would be taxed at $1.25 cents per hundred pounds and ninety six Cuban sugar at 82.92.

When the Kansas Senator had concluded an attack on the Democratic bill Senator LaFollette proposed an amendment to the Penrose amendment directing public hearings.

Go Into Executive Session.

Senator Bacon then moved that the senate go into executive session. This was objected to, but prevailed 18 to 14. Senators LaFollette and Weeks voting with the Democrats. This forced further consideration of the tariff over until tomorrow.

Senator LaFollette's amendment which was accepted by Senator Penrose provides that manufacturers who might appear or file briefs before the finance committee be required to answer under oath sixteen questions relating to the commodity they manufacture, the raw materials used; the amount of production and consumption of the commodity in this country, the number of concerns engaged in its manufacture and their identity; the market price in this and competing countries; the cost of production in this and competing countries; the percentage of labor cost here and abroad; transportation cost to principal markets here and abroad; what part of the existing tariff duty represents difference in cost of production here and abroad; and what part of the tariff duty represents the profit of the American manufacturer.

PFANSCHMIDT DENIED NEW TRIAL BY JUDGE

JUDGE WILLIAMS REFUSES TO SET ASIDE VERDICT OF THE JURY

Holds That There is Not Satisfactory Evidence of Bias On Part of Jurors As Claimed By Condemned Man's Attorney To Enable Him to Disturb the Verdict.

QUINCY, ILL., MAY 13.—Ray Pfanschmidt, the 21 year old youth found guilty by a jury of the murder of his father, mother, sister and Miss Emma Kaempfen, a young school teacher living at the Pfanschmidt home, is one step nearer the gallows for Judge Guy Williams in the Adams county circuit court today refused to set aside the verdict of the jury condemning him to death for his terrible crime and to order a new trial. The arguments on the motions for a new trial took four days. In addition to the usual grounds alleged for a new trial, the arguments on the motions for a new trial took four days. PRISONER IN COURT ROOM TRIES TO CARVE WAY TO FREEDOM Convicted Burglar is Handed Knife in Sweetheart's Handkerchief—Attempt for Liberty Proves Unsuccessful.

Chicago, May 13.—When Harry Evans had been convicted of burglary in the municipal court to day Garnett Fairfield, a cabaret singer, his sweetheart who sat near, passed him her handkerchief. Evans extracted an open knife from the handkerchief and started to carve his way to freedom. Detective Boschulte was badly cut in the neck and Deputy Bohaber was stabbed in the chest before Evans was overpowered. The girl was arrested.

Only the presence in the court room of an unusually large number of bailiffs and detectives prevented a double murder and the release of Evans and Albert Jensen, who had been tried with Evans for burglary according to Municipal Judge Cooper.

A number of friends of the two were in the court room and it is believed that they planned to go to their aid when they were frightened by the number of men who met the attack of Evans and Jensen.

Miss Fairfield had introduced herself as Evans' sister and managed to give him the knife in her handkerchief when she approached him by permission of the court, ostensibly to kiss the prisoner good-bye.

Evans, after being taken to jail, declared he had tried to kill Detective Boschulte because he said the policeman had beaten him in the police station while seeking to extract a confession of guilt.

REPUBLICANS BEGIN NOMINATIONS FIGHT

Senators Begin First Big Fight on Wilson's Appointments

AT CROSS PURPOSES

Senate Played at Cross Purposes for Five Hours on Harris Nomination

NO DISCUSSION OF MERITS

WASHINGTON, MAY 13.—Senate Republicans began their first big fight on President Wilson's nominations tonight when the appointment of W. J. Harris of Georgia as director of the census, succeeding E. Dana Durand, was taken up in executive session. For nearly five hours the senate played at cross purposes on the Harris nomination without ever entering into a discussion of the merits of the case. The Republicans forced roll call after roll call on question of procedure and in support of tactics which the Democrats termed dilatory. Finally when the membership on both sides had dwindled away to almost nothing, adjournment was taken until tomorrow at noon, with the Harris nomination still just where it was when the doors were closed shortly before 4 o'clock.

Will Keep up the Fight.

Republican leaders have served notice that they expect to keep up the fight against the confirmation of Harris until July 1 at least, when Mr. Durand has announced his intention to quit.

Under the senate rules there is no question of their ability to filibuster to their heart's content, and if they are willing to go into long executive sessions day after day they can prevent confirmation as long as their talking powers last.

During the debate tonight an unsuccessful attempt was made to invoke the famous Reed rule by which members present in the chamber but not voting were counted in an attempt to disclose a quorum. A minority report against Harris was filed by Senator Townsend and Senators LaFollette and Cummins, also of the census committee. Senator Burton and other Republicans were interested in the case. Senator Burton declared after the debate had proceeded several hours that he was willing to review the history of census from the present day to the time of Babylon before he would see Harris confirmed. The Republican fight centers largely on the contention that officers requiring technical knowledge or scientific attainments should not be given as political rewards but that qualification and experience should be the only yard stick. Mr. Harris was chairman of the Democratic state executive committee of Georgia in the last campaign and is known as an original Wilson man. His appointment was one of the early ones to important offices.

Had Served Warning.

Republicans on the census committee served notice almost immediately after the appointment that they expected to fight his confirmation. Efforts were made by Democrats who wished to smooth out the difficulties to have Mr. Durand retained in office until July 1, but a meeting of the committee ten days ago, the nomination was ordered reported by a majority vote. Senator Newland the only Republican present voting against it and throwing down the gauntlet of battle for the minority side.

Such persistent opposition to any one presidential nomination has not been manifested in the senate for many years.

Hundreds of former President Taft's appointments were held up during the closing days of the last session but attacks were not directed toward any individual nomination and at no time did the senate spend so many hours behind closed doors in the discussion of such appointments.

A BLIND WONDER.

Dr. Jacob W. Bolotin, totally blind was recently appointed attending physician of the Tuberculosis hospital at Dunning, Ill. is a graduate of the Illinois School for the Blind in this city. Dr. Bolotin is 25 years of age and is the only blind man who ever took a four year's course in medicine and passed the Illinois examination for medicine and surgery. He also is licensed to practice osteopathy, massage and medical gymnastics.

Here are a few of the wonderful things this young man does:

Gives exact temperatures of patients by feeling of the skin.

Gives exact pulse count without use of a watch.

Diagnoses tuberculosis infected chests by touch.

Lectures regularly before students of two medical colleges and talks for from three to six hours without using notes.

Makes his way all over the city without a guide.

Has examined over 3,500 patients for the city and county and less than fifty of them knew he was blind.

Uses the touch system in typewriting, yet he cannot write his own name with a pen or a pencil.

Keeps a loose leaf book as well as any business bookkeeper.

Dr. Bolotin was graduated from the Illinois State School for the Blind in Jacksonville when he was 14 years old, and for several years traveled all over the United States as a typewriter salesman.

Nobody would believe, just by looking at him, that he is blind, he is so different from other blind men. His first question to his interviewer is:

"Are you here for a charitable purpose—to help a blind man? If you are don't come in."

All his life he has maintained that a blind man can do anything any other can do, and that the hardest part is to overcome public prejudice and convince others this is true.

Before the farwell handshake the interviewer is laughing over funny poetry and funny stories, just as the nurses at Dunning laugh over them every Wednesday, when the blind physician appears. He is a favorite there. They make a special apple pie for him—and he's mighty fond of apple pie—every time he comes.

Dr. Bolotin graduated from the Chicago College of Medicine and Surgery at the head of his class, paying his way by selling typewriters "on the road" during vacations. Of the 600 students he could name nearly 500 after shaking hands with them.

WAGON OWNERS OBJECT TO CITY HAULING RUBBISH FREE

Men Met At City Hall Tuesday to Tell Council Their Objections—Changes May Be Made in City Dumping Ground Arrangements.

A special meeting of the city council was held Tuesday morning to hear protests from a number of men who own and drive wagons used for general hauling. These wagon owners claim that they are paying a heavy city vehicle license and that now the city is engaged in hauling off cans and rubbish free, that their business has been interfered with to a large extent. Mayor Davis said that doubtless commissioner Newman would be glad to work the services of a number of the team owners to help in the work of cleaning up as he is finding it difficult to get wagons and teams. Commissioner Newman said such was the case and Street Superintendent Spaulding who was present said that the scale paid by the city is $4 for a team and $2.75 for a single horse and wagon and that all could be given employment. Practically all of the men present, however, either did not want to work by the day or were engaged for the present. The men present to enter protest were Messrs. Lee, Mosley, Wyatt, Arbuckle, Reynolds, Bart, and Kinnison.

From the question hauling rubbish, the discussion drifted to the city dumping ground and the men present were of the opinion that a handicap was worked on the wagon owners when they were compelled to pay a fee for using the dumping grounds. It seems that wagons must go across a strip of private ground before reaching city property and that the charge is made for passing over this ground. The council promised that the whole matter should be looked into and if possible arrangements would be made whereby the dumping grounds can be used without so much expense as is now the case.

WANTED T. P. A. CONVENTION.

The Springfield Register voices the disappointment of the capital city in failing to secure the next state T. P. A. convention in the following language:

"A delegate to the state T. P. A. meeting at Quincy, which adjourned Saturday night, says that the convention decided upon Springfield as the next place of meeting, but that nineteen of the twenty-three delegates from this city voted against having the convention here, and as a result it went to Jacksonville. If, indeed, these delegates from Springfield did this, they were not representing Springfield, but representing Jacksonville. This city would have been proud to have entertained the T. P. A. That is one of the most potential organizations for good in the state because it consists of men who are always in close touch with the people and with the commercial interests of all sections of the state."

LARGE AUDIENCE WITNESSES "MUCH ADO ABOUT NOTHING"

Illinois College Dramatic Club De-lights Large Audience by Clever Work.

A large audience was present at the Grand Opera house Tuesday night when the Illinois College Dramatic club presented "Much Ado About Nothing," the well known comedy by William Shakespeare. Last year the club gave "Twelfth Night" with such success that it was voted this year to appear again before the footlights. "Much Ado About Nothing" does not present as many humorous situations as "Twelfth Night," but is a far more finished production, calling for brilliant work and a closer study of the meaning of the author. Every character last night appeared well chosen and the cast was evenly balanced which afforded a good foundation for the more serious efforts.

Special mention should be made of Miss Eleanor Capps, who played the part of Beatrice, niece of Leonato, and Miss Marion Taylor, who took the character of "Hero," daughter of Leonato. These characters called for some very exacting and hard work and the ease and naturalness with which the young ladies acquitted themselves was the occasion of just recognition from the large audience. The part of Don Pedro, Prince of Aragon, was taken by Henry Caldwell. He is perhaps the most promising of all those who took part last night, from the fact that he is only a senior in Whipple Academy. While the character he portrayed was not as important as some of the others, his efforts were characterized by some very praiseworthy work. Warren Hall found a suitable place in the person of Benedic, a Young Lord of Padua, and the character of Claudio, a young lord of Florence, which was full of difficulties, was capably handled by Edward Bullard.

The most humorous part of the play was that of the two foolish officers and the watchmen. Viggo Jensen as Dogberry was the leader in the situation and maintained that splendid reputation which he won last year as Sir Toby Berch in "Twelfth Night." The others in this laughable part did well. The chapel scene was most effective where the bridal party enters, led by the six small boys who sang the wedding chorus. This particular scene was under the training of Rev. Howard D. French.

The play was in three acts and the scene was laid in the city of Messina in Sicily. The stage settings were attractive and showed careful thought as to the production. The general effect of the entire performance was much better than that of last season, the costumes, especially those of the young ladies, being gorgeous.

Prof. J. G. Ames, who has had charge of the training of the participants, is deserving of much praise for the splendid manner in which the characters, and each one could well be mentioned, acquitted themselves. His acquaintance with the inner meaning of the author showed that special thought had been given the work of the noted writer. Much of the success of the staging of the performance is due, in no small measure, to Miss Marie Chambers and Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp and to Miss Stella Cole as "Mistress of Properties." Clarence Phelps did some pretty electric work in the garden scenes.

The audience showed their keen appreciation last night by sincere applause. The proceeds will be used for college enterprises, the major portion of the money going toward the athletic fund.

The following was the cast of characters:

Don Pedro, Prince of Aragon—Henry Caldwell.
Don John, Brother of Don Pedro—Percy Whisler.
Claudio, a Young Lord of Florence—Edward Bullard.
Benedic, a Young Lord of Padua—John Widenham.
Antonio, brother to Leonato—Frederick Bray.
Balthazar, servant to Don Pedro—William Kirby.
Borachio, Conrade, followers of Don John—Trixie Justus, Durrell Hatfield.
Dogberry, Verges, two foolish officers—Viggo Jensen, Thomas Manager.

A Sexton—Franklin Butler.
A Musician—Stuart Russell.

Choir Boys—Masters French, Russell, Green, Cornick, McLaughlin, Whitley.
Hero, daughter to Leonato—Miss Marion Taylor.
Beatrice, niece to Leonato—Miss Eleanor Capps.

WILLIAMS AND VASHTI WILL PLAY HERE TODAY

Aldeo College Team Will Play Illinois This Afternoon—Bankers and I. C. Men in Tie Game.

Illinois college and Williams and Vashti will meet this afternoon on Illinois diamond to measure baseball arms. W. and V. have a strong team this year and Illinois will do well, with their crippled nine, to hold them down to an ordinary score. The visitors have with them as players three of the famous Clark boys, who are known for their athletic ability. Coach Harmon will line-up his men as announced recently. The line-up of the visitors will probably be:

Histed, p; Durston, c; Stewart Clark, 1b; Thompson, 2b; Gervis Clark, 3b; George Clark, ss; Baldwin lf; Braucht, rf; James, cf.

Bankers vs. Illinois.
The college nine and the bankers played a five inning game Tuesday afternoon which ended in a tie, 9 to 9. The line-up of the bankers was: Girtlen, p; Buland, c; Swain, 1b; Merrill, 2b; Dick Rowe, 3b; Wheeler, ss; Osborne, lf; Gregory, cf; Hailey, rf.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The annual Illinois Interscholastic High school meet will take place Saturday at Champaign, Ill. The meet starts at 9 a. m. and ends at noon. Jacksonville will enter two men, although they are not in the pink of condition. Killbrow will try for the shot put and Cannon will try for the pole vault, 220 yard dash and 220 yard hurdle.

Registration For Next Year.
Principal Gore is a firm believer that registration of students should not be put off till school starts in the fall, but rather that students should be consulted as to the course they intended to take and a study list be made out at the close of the school year. There is much routine work to be accomplished along this line and it will perhaps take considerable of Principal Gore's time this summer to get everything in first class shape. There is a possibility that school will open September 1 this year and not the second Monday in September as has been the rule in former years. This will make the school year of sufficient length to get in all the requirements of the various universities of the country.

Must Take Examinations.
Promotion in the fifth, sixth and seventh grades will require an examination this year which was decided upon by Superintendent and principals. The school year is drawing to a close and the students are busy preparing for the final tests.

Party at Colonial Inn.

ILLINOIS COLLEGE HAD LARGE PLACE IN WAR

RECORDS OF REBELLION DAYS ARE COMPILED BY E. B. HAMILTON.

Makes Valuable Contribution to the History of the College—Institution Was Really a Large Factor in the Decisive Days of the Great Conflict.

The current issue of Illinois College Rambler contains an article of great value by E. Bentley Hamilton a graduate of the college in the class of 1892 and now a successful attorney. Mr. Hamilton at the last commencement season was appointed chairman of a committee to gather facts and to look into the possibilities of erecting a memorial to Illinois College men who took part in the war of the rebellion. Mr. Hamilton who is of patriotic ancestry, being the son of Gen. E. B. Hamilton, now deceased was especially to lead in the work because of his interest in it and his acquaintance with the history of the college. The other members of the committee are Messrs. Ensley Moore and F. J. Heintz. The records which Mr. Hamilton has gotten together after arduous work are submitted in the Rambler and are in part as follows:

The history of Illinois college from 1850 to 1865 may almost be said to be the history of the nation within that period. The discussion and debates upon the vital questions confronting the government relating to slavery were also heard on College Hill, and particularly within the doors of Phi Alpha and Sigma Pi societies. When it became apparent, following the attack upon Fort Sumter, that the solution of these problems could only take place upon the field of battle, and that secession and the disruption of the union must be opposed by force of arms, Illinois college "heard her country calling" and responded most nobly with a written and alumni who enlisted for her defense.

"It is safe to say that few students of the present day—or even alumni—know in what measure this college gave her best that the union might be saved. And when the final history is written of the sacrifice that was made by the men of Illinois college, it must necessarily include not only the men who left the classroom for the scene of battle, but also those who left perhaps years before, who had learned while there the lessons of patriotism, and who were enlisted with love and devotion for their government, so that they too responded from the civil walks of life upon which they had entered."

The purpose of this article is to publish the names thus far obtained, so that those who read it may supply names of which they know but which do not appear erewith. Merely for the purpose of convenience for the reader these names are classified according to the societies to which the men belonged. It is hardly conceivable that an institution of the size of Illinois college up to and including the year 1865, could furnish from the ranks of her students and alumni such a glorious record as follows. The name of the regiment and the commission of most of those who were officers are in the possession of the committee, but only the names are published.

OLD AT FORTY

Some Younger at 65 Than Others Are at 40 Years.

So many people whom you meet about the time they reach 40 begin by saying "I can't do this and I can't do that, because I'm getting old now," they begin to act old, feel old and they are older in appearance than many who are much advanced in years.

When you begin to feel old, when your energy begins to fall build yourself up with our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, Vinol. It is a wonderful blood-maker and strengthener.

Mrs. J. N. Kelley, aged 75 who lives at Lake Charles, La., says: "I took Vinol for a run down condition. It not only built up my strength, but I feel fifteen years younger than I did before taking it."

Thousands of old people have found in Vinol just the medicine they need to build up the feeble, weakened system and create strength. If it fails, we return your money. Lee P. Allcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.

HOW DEEP IS A FARM?

Kansas City Star: The hearing of a case that affects nearly fifteen hundred acres of coal lands in Cherokee county, Kansas, was finished yesterday before Judge J. S. Dean of Topeka, master in chancery appointed by Judge Pollock in the federal court on the Kansas side. The case involves only 120 acres of coal land, valued at $50,000, but the fate of nearly three-quarters million dollars' worth of coal hinges on the decision.

The St. Louis & San Francisco railroad originally owned all the eight acres of coal lands were sold for purposes and the mining rights reserved. William P. Daugherty and William Humble, farmers, bought 120 acres of the ground and farmed it. They are still farming it. The right to mine the coal was leased by the J. R. Crowe Coal and Mining company from the railroad. This company has obtained the mining rights on the two sections of ground.

When it came to mining the coal it was found that the coal veins were too close to the surface to sink shafts and dig tunnels. It was only forty feet below the surface. A giant steam shovel recently has been adopted to scrape immense holes in the earth, and it was found that a steam shovel would have to be used to get out the coal. That meant the surface, which was bought by farmers, and was being used for farming purposes, had to be destroyed.

The farmers refused to allow the coal company to scrape away their farms. A suit was brought in the federal court asking that Humble & Daugherty be enjoined from interfering with the coal company in scraping away the soil. The matter was referred to a master in chancery.

NEW SUPERINTENDENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Otto Keuchman of Quincy the new superintendent of transportation of the local street railway has arrived in the city. He will succeed John Doyle, who has been acting temporarily in that capacity since the resignation of Charles Samuels. Mr. Doyle is the capable shop foreman of the company and will continue in his old position. Mr. Keuchman held a similar position with the McKinley interests in Quincy and has also been superintendent of streets for the city of Quincy.

Volumes, instead of pages, might be written upon the brave and gallant service rendered by all of the Illinois college men. More than twenty-five enlisted in the 145th Ill. Inf. organized by Prof. Crampton for 100 days service. Upon these and other soldiers the stirring, impassioned address of the patriotic Sanders had a powerful influence. Before the 145th Ill. Inf. started for the front he said to them, "Strike home! Strike hard—with a terrific emphasis on the hard."

SWANSON SAVES GAME FOR DUBUQUE

CENTER FIELDER ROBS LYNCH OF HOME DRIVE IN NINTH.

Long Clout Comes in Last Inning With a Runner On Second and Would Have Won Game For Decatur—Other Three Eye Games.

DECATUR, May 13.—Swanson's circus catch in center field of Lynch's long drive with a runner on second, robbed him of a home run in the ninth and saved the game for Dubuque. Both Dubuque's runs were due to Kaiser's wildness.

ON THE SIDELINES.

The Giants have started to climb. The right and proper position for that team is at the head of the first division.

The defeats of the Naps by the Yanks is not due so much to the superiority of the latter team as to the fact that Lajoie is out of the game with a broken thumb and finger, while Manager Birmingham broke his ankle in Monday's game. These accidents probably mark the finish of the Naps' fine showing. Hard luck.

One thing seems certain, the Quincy Gems can hit the ball. Joe Vyskocil threatens to wrest the honors of being their premier pitcher from Royer. A team with two such seasoned men as those named ought to cut some figure in the pennant race.

The western clubs of the American league are more than holding their own with the easterners. That driving the St. Louis Browns gave the Senators will not be forgotten for a while.

Johnson is down to pitch the game for Washington against St. Louis this afternoon and to go after Dr. Whites record for scoreless innings. He is very close to it and will probably surpass it as one can scarcely imagine the Browns scoring on him if he is at his best.

Detroit is headed for the basement. It is but a question of a few games until Chance is out of last position and Jennings ensconced there. Poor pitching is what is ailing the Tigers. Mullin has fallen down completely.

Another tumble for the Pirates. That once proud and haughty aggregation is now in the down and out class. Their poor record will no doubt hasten Fred Clark's determination to retire.

The Springfield Register makes light of Rowland's placing such a high figure on Jagger and reminds Chicago that the lemon crop in California is unusually good this year.

18,000 people attended a Federal League game at Indianapolis the other day. Seems plenty of room is available for this new comer in the major ranks.

Terry Turner got back into the game for Cleveland while Lajoie is laid up. Turner is quite well known in this city. A sister of his once taught in one of our schools and he has relatives residing in Springfield. He is one of the veterans of the game and a clean, manly player.

Springfield seems to have taken a bad slump. And at the same time Dubuque has responded with a decided brace. Likewise Davenport is not letting slip the opportunity to add to her games won column. Donnelly is having trouble with his pitchers. Dubuque is strong there, and so is Davenport. It is a very pretty race in the Three Lamp.

Brooklyn does not falter, much to everybody's surprise. The Dodgers are playing as scientific and clever a game as a set of them and the natural result is that they keep on winning.

The two Philadelphia teams top the column in their respective leagues. It has been about six years since it happened that teams representing the same city in two leagues were at the top. That was when the Sox and Cubs were battling for world's series honors and the Sox won.

Detroit has but one pitcher in anything like winning form, Dube, and naturally he can't carry the whole team.

If Brooklyn had just one more pitcher or the Rucker stamp it is an open question to whether the pennant would not fly in the city at the other end of the bridge this year.

Hooray! Baby To Rule the House

No Longer Do Women Fear The Great-est of All Human Blessings.

It is a joy and comfort to know that those much-talked-of pains and other distresses that are said to precede child-bearing may easily be avoided. No woman need fear the slightest discomfort if she will fortify herself with the well-known and time-honored remedy, "Mother's Friend."

This is a most grateful, penetrating, external application that at once softens and makes pliant the abdominal muscles and ligaments. They naturally expand without the slightest strain, and thus not only banish all tendency to nervous twitching spells, but there is an entire freedom from nausea, discomfort, sleeplessness and dread that so often leave their impress upon the babe.

The occasion is therefore one of unbounded, joyful anticipation, and too much stress can not be laid upon the remarkable influence which a mother's happy, pre-natal disposition has upon the health and fortunes of the generation to come.

Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers, thousands of whom have used and recommend it. You will find it on sale at all drug stores at $1.00 a bottle. Write to-day to the Bradford Regulator Co., 130 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for a most instructive book on this greatest of all subjects, motherhood.

There is a wealth of instruction and comfort to be derived in reading this little book. It is plainly written, just what every woman wants to know, and will be a splendid little textbook for guidance, not only for yourself, but will make you helpful to others. And, in the meantime do not fail to get a bottle of Mother's Friend at the drug store, and thus fortify yourself against any and all pain and discomfort.

FACE DISGRACEFUL WITH RASH

Large Scabs Would Form, Fester and Break. Itching and Burning. Kept from Sleeping. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—"My trouble of skin disease started merely as a rash on my face and neck, but it grew and kept getting worse until large scabs would form, fester and break. This was just on the one side of my face, but it soon scattered to the other side. I suffered a great deal especially at night on account of its itching and burning. I would scratch it and of course that irritated it very much. This rash was on my face for about two years sometimes breaking out lots worse and forming larger sores. It kept me from sleeping day or night for a couple of months. My face looked disgraceful, and I was almost ashamed to be seen by my friends.

"A friend asked me to try Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I would bathe my face with hot water and a lot of Cuticura Soap, then I would put on the Cuticura Ointment. In less than two weeks' time, the soreness and inflammation had almost entirely disappeared, and in four weeks' time you could not see any of the rash. Now my face is without a spot of any kind. I also use them for my scalp and hair. They cured me completely." (Signed) Miss Pansy Hutchins, Feb. 6, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment are sold throughout the world. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

For tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick, 25c. Sample free.

THE AUTOBIOGRAPHY OF A FLY.

The Michigan association for the prevention of tuberculosis devote an issue of their bulletin each year to the fight against the fly. The "Fly Campaign Number" for 1913 contains in autobiographical form a story of the life of this dangerous pest that expresses better than any table of figures or scientific article the risk we run in giving it access to our homes and allowing it to run over the food we eat. Fly time is here the quicker we begin the fight against the disseminator of typhoid the better. Its a great deal better to "prevent the fly" than to wait and be compelled to "swat the fly." What this insect might lead it the gift of speech is thus related in the Michigan "Bulletin."

"The first thing I remember before I had any legs or wings and was wiggling and squirming in a nice warm bed of horse manure, where I spent my time eating and drinking the food about me. After a while I began to feel uncomfortable and found that I had grown too big for my skin. Relief came soon and my skin came off, and I ate some more manure and enjoyed it. In a few days more my skin got too tight, and off it came, and then I went to sleep for I don't know how long. When I awoke I was kicking and struggling out of a very dry, hard skin, and after freeing myself I found I was in the open air and had legs and wings and looked and felt very differently than when I went to sleep. I was thirsty, so I tried my wings for the first time and flew to a puddle by the manure pile, and took a long drink, after which I felt much better.

"Up to this time I had eaten nothing but manure, but I soon found out that there were other things just as good. I saw a lot of flies, big and little, around a small building not far from the manure pile, so I flew over and had a feast. It is fun to wade around in your food and find so much that you hardly know where to begin. I'm afraid I'm a glutton.

"I spent quite a while here and then flew out in the sunshine where the white clothes were hanging on a line and walked over the napkins for a while. Wet things are very pleasant for a time, but my feet got covered with little pieces of food and things that wiggle around and tickle me so I like to wipe them off on a nice white napkin or tablecloth, and then I got around better. While I was enjoying the sun I smelled the most delightful smell that had ever come to me. It came from an open window, so I flew. Things were smoking on a stove and a woman was mixing up some white stuff on a table. There were a lot of other flies about and one that was too busy eating to see his danger got rolled up in the dough and I never saw him again, so I was careful and flew in and out and got a mouthful each time. I got rid of some more manure there, too, for the dough was sticky and pulled it off my feet.

"Near by was a bowl of milk which smelled good, so I flew over and took a drink. Here I nearly lost my life and if I had not been young and active, I am sure I would never have escaped. Several of us were drinking when the woman suddenly put out her hand in our direction and we all made a jump. Two got hit and fell in the middle. She hit me, too, but I landed near the edge and struggled out and flew away, but she caught the other two and pinched them and threw them on the floor, and went on mixing her dough, apparently without a thought that she had killed two of my companions.

"I stayed in the kitchen a time and then went into another room where there was not so much to eat, as I was not very hungry. Here I found a lot of flies and a table set. One poor fly had drowned in the ice water; it must have been awfully cold and two or three had their feet so tangled up in the butter that they couldn't get away, and the number of little germs that they had wiped off was enormous. They were swarming on the butter, and before long it got dark and I was tired, so I went to sleep on the edge of a glass, scraping off as much dough as I could. The edge of a glass is a very nice thing to wipe your feet on.

"In the morning the man and woman and a child came in to eat and the woman poured out a glassful of milk for the child—the glass I had slept on. I guess people like germs and manure and things just as I do, for the baby drank all the milk. Day after day went by; we spent part of our time in house and the little building back of it, and we lived on the fat of the land. Two or three times a day we would get a whiff of that lovely smell from the kitchen and then we would race to see which would get there first. The woman would slap at us and the child chased us, but only a few got caught, and we enjoyed the fun. Sometimes one got killed, but we hadn't time to be sorry long, we were too busy eating and wiping our feet and investigating things.

"After some weeks of this life, I flew away up in the air one morning and went into a window I had not seen before and found the child asleep in bed. I went over and walked across his lips and it was warm and nice, and I wiped my feet and stretched my wings, and almost fell asleep myself; but the child rolled over, so I flew over to the glass of water on the table and drank some. Pretty soon the woman came in and a man I had never seen before. They went over and looked at the child and felt him, and the man asked a lot of questions, and the woman seemed worried. She asked him what the trouble was, and looked at the child again and then out of the window toward the stable and around the house at us, and then he said something that sounded very funny to me, 'typhoid fever; too many flies.' What in the world did we have to do with it? However, I'm only a fly. The woman didn't seem to understand either, but after a while she said something about screens and fly paper, and then I flew out to the stable. I saw some flies on fly paper once and it's no place for me. She must be forgotten about screens, for I went in and out every day and walked over the child and found lots to eat about him and the bed, and between this room and the kitchen and the stable we always had plenty to eat.

"One morning when I went into the room I couldn't find the child. He was covered up with a sheet, so I went out again. The next day some people came to the house, and a lot of carriages, and I guess they took the child away, for I have never seen him since. The weather is getting cooler all the time, and I have trouble waking up in the mornings and feel stiff and lazy and don't care to eat much. I found a closet near the kitchen and I think I will soon go in there and sleep until next spring, as it's too cold outside. I don't go much farther away from the kitchen now than the garbage can on the porch, and between that and the kitchen I find all I need to eat and there is always something to wipe your feet on when they get too heavy with food—a piece of bread or cake, a plate or a fork or a spoon, and I'm sure nobody minds."

CONFIDENCE IN GIANT LEVEES.

Residents of New Orleans Are Not Alarmed by Flood Waters. Ocean Liners Float Above Street Level.

New Orleans, May 13.—Assured by the fact that the giant levees which flank the Mississippi in this region have not failed in their task in nearly half a century, residents of New Orleans are in no way alarmed as the crest of the flood passes into the lower reaches of the river. Visitors to the city experience something of a thrill when they see ocean liners floating high above the street levels. And they are not greatly reassured when they climb the dike and look over into the swirling channel. The ease with which great boats are rocked and buffeted, the way in which trees and other drift are hurried gulward, tends to destroy confidence in man's ability to control such a force, yet the indisputable fact remains that there has been no river water in New Orleans in nearly a century.

Along the river front within the city limits the average level base is 200 feet in width. There is little danger that this mountain of rock and earth, pierced with a network of steel and cypress pilings, will give way. The greatest danger to New Orleans is not from the river, but from Lake Pontchartrain, an arm of the Gulf of Mexico, which forms one of the boundaries of the city. When storms on the gulf happen to exert their force straight inland, water is banked up into the lake. On one occasion in recent years the height of the water in the lake became great enough to flood a portion of the city to a depth of several inches.

Pessimists have called attention to the fact that if a great storm should occur and at the same time one of the levees above the city should break, the great volume of water added would be almost certain to cause an overflow into the city. At high tide an average depth of three feet is a bare possibility. Any break in the levee system above the city and south of Baton Rouge would drain into Lake Pontchartrain. As the lake is a large one it would require a great volume of water to make any perceptible difference in its level. No danger to the city would follow unless an unusually hard inland storm be raging at the same time.

Even if one of the levees along the city front should burst the great damage would be confined to the immediate vicinity of the crevasse. As the country on all sides of New Orleans is perfectly flat the water would soon spread over a great territory and the main depth could not exceed a few feet. Engineering experts declare that a disaster such as befell Dayton is a physical impossibility in New Orleans.

There is every reason to believe that the increasing losses from floods will hasten the day when the Father of Waters will hurl itself seaward between banks of armored concrete. The indications are that at no distant day there will be a great ship's channel from the Passes to St. Louis, a monument that will be as distinctive to America as the great wall is to China and the pyramids are to Egypt.

NATURE-STUDY AND THE SCHOOL GROUNDS OF THE PRESENT DAY

Trees, Flowers and Shrubs, Arranged for Beauty, May at the Same Time Be Made the Means of Able and Interesting Instruction.

By A. Phelps Wyman, Former Assistant Professor of Landscape Gardening, University of Illinois.

Some studies must have laboratories for their greatest efficiency, and nature-study is one of these. The school grounds themselves may be such a laboratory. Every schoolyard ought anyway to be planted with trees and flowers and shrubs, and while the grounds are arranged for beauty they can at the same time be made a means of instruction in nature-study.

What features does a school ground require for beauty that it already has not now? Happily, beauty does not depend so much on extraneous things brought in, as in giving necessary objects a position that is useful and attractive and a form which fulfills its purpose. But in addition some few things may be added, and these are trees and flowers and bushes. In the case of grounds where nature-study is the desideratum, there need not be planting additional to what is required for landscape gardening purposes.

For the primary arrangement of school grounds, one must go back to actual needs. The two chief objects are the school house and playground. The school house is best placed at one side so as to leave a liberal space for the playground. Then it is ready for the creation of a laboratory.

It is a first principle of landscape gardening to leave the space between the buildings and boundaries open and in grass, and to plant the borders. This is evidently necessary in the case of the playground and is quite as much so with other spaces. A few trees are needed to shade the building and the borders of the yard. A school yard is a bare place without them but they must not interfere with the playground. One must also study the protection they give from the wind and sun. It is of little use to plant trees on the north side of a building but they are needed on the south. Against the house and boundaries and about the sheds is the place for shrubs.

Trees may be studied from two points of view, their artistic and their botanical value. A study of the artistic qualities means a comprehension of their form, their texture and their colors. The oak has spreading branches, open and rugged in texture and has brilliant color in fall. Its vigor is expressed by the manner in which its buds and branches start out on all sides of their twigs and trunks. Botanically, this last point is interesting also. Its flowers are monocotyledonous, stamens are hanging catkins, and the fruit, an acorn, matures in one or two years, according to species. Its leaves are of interest from both standpoint and during the summer its branches exhibit more of the bony framework of the tree. It harbors all kinds of insect and fungi. Birds are at home in its branches in their season.

A still better laboratory for the study of bird life are the bushes planted around the borders. Birds love a thicket in which to build their nests and to hide. Such a thicket even attracts birds to its vicinity. Kinds may be selected which birds like especially for food, such as the mulberry. But other kinds may be selected for other interests, such as their fruit, both botanically and artistically, like the barberry and cranberry. Others have striking bark, like dogwood, which should not be planted too plentiful. For an example of curious flowering there is the witch hazel, which blooms just before winter sets in. As a matter of fact, it makes little difference about selecting bushes for such a laboratory, for the kinds which are most unassumingly attractive and succeed best are just those which are best adapted to nature-study. There should be examples of native kinds like the dogwoods, the viburnums, hazels and winterberries. But if one can also obtain easily other kinds which are of foreign origin, but which have been used long enough so that they seem to belong to us, like the lilacs and weigelas, the planting is that much more enriched. They may be planted irregularly three or four feet apart and from two to three plants wide against the fences and schoolhouse and especially in the corners of the grounds making the kinds heaviest at the corners of the schoolhouse and lot.

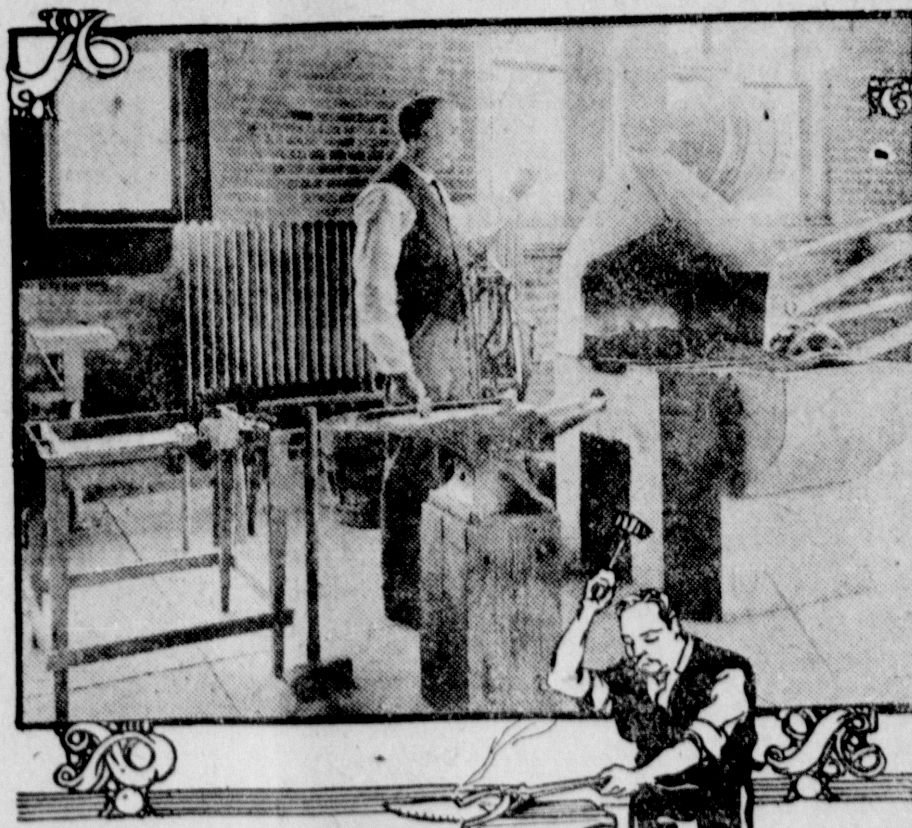

School is still in session when some of our finest flowers of the perennial class come into bloom. These are the plants which die to the ground every year but whose roots continue to live on and throw up stalks again. Flowers have more interest botanically than shrubs, and a place can easily be found for them.

Workshop Necessary to Farming.

By Andrew Tornquist, Laboratory Assistant, Farm Mechanics, University of Illinois.

Every farmer should have a shop equipped with a forge and a complete set of blacksmith tools. These need not be the most expensive, but should be of the right kind. On rainy days and times when outdoor work is not very urgent, time can be spent in the shop to good advantage. Parts of broken or worn machinery can be repaired, wagons put in running order, and many articles useful and convenient on the farm can be made. During harvest and threshing time, if any other, for the fire needs constant attention; the coal should be kept close to the iron. A forge for all purposes should be about three feet square. The tye iron should be placed in the center, with its top four inches below the level of the forge. The tye iron should be provided with a damper so the ashes can be cleaned out below in the ash pit. The forge can be built of brick or limestone; concrete has proven to be very good material for a forge. If concrete is used a box can be built in at one side to keep coal in for convenience in working. The blower thing about the machinery should break, a great deal of time would be saved if the parts could be repaired in the farm shop. It does not take long for the farmer and his boys to do the work, and to keep in practice; for practice is necessary to do things. Many farmer boys have become skillful blacksmiths by having a place to work at the forge.

MR. TORNQUIST AT WORK IN HIS SHOP.

The forge is the most important part of the shop. It should be so large that a pair of tongs will support themselves when holding a piece of iron to be heated, without falling to the floor. This will give the workman a chance to run the fan with one hand, and tend to the fire with the other. It should be of good size as to get plenty of blast; it does not require much blast for heating small irons, but it takes a good deal for heavy work. Therefore it is better to have one of ample size than one that is too small. The pipe from blower to tye iron should be not less than three inches in diameter; the blower should be the kind that is operated with a lever, as to give the operator a chance to watch the iron and still be able to run the blower without having to stand back of the hood. If the workman has a helper it does not make much difference what kind of blower is used, but most of the time a helper may not always be at hand.

Attacks of Indigestion

"I believe Chamberlain's Tablets have saved my life, writes Mrs. Maggie Coll, Golden City, Mo. 'I had pains in my stomach so bad I thought I could not live. Our doctor said it was congestion of the stomach. I would go to bed perfectly well and wake up in the night as bad as I could be and live. Our doctor said it would do no good to give medicine internally. He had to inject medicine in my arm. Since taking Chamberlain's Tablets I can eat anything I want without hurting me.' This form of indigestion is extremely painful and often dangerous. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets after eating, and weight in the stomach after eating, the disease may be warded off and avoided. Chamberlain's Tablets not only aid digestion, but strengthen and invigorate the stomach."

UPTURN IN STOCK EXCHANGE PRICES

VOLUME OF BUSINESS SMALL AND MOVEMENT SLOW.

There Was Some Further Selling of Stocks Which Have Exhibited Marked Heaviness Recently—Absence of Selling Pressure Was an Important Feature of the Day's Trading.

(By Associated Press)
New York, May 13.—The drift of prices on the stock exchange was upward today and while the volume of business remained small and the movement was nothing more than a slow, creeping advance, the close of the session found not a few of the leading shares a point or so higher than at the close yesterday. Speculation still reflected the reluctance of traders to commit themselves heavily on either side of the market so long as the unsolved problems of the present situation continue to obscure the outlook for securities. An important feature of the day's trading was the absence of selling pressure.

Stocks were scarce and it was inferred that made the technical condition comparatively strong. The borrowing demand for steel in particular was unusually heavy, and estimates of the size of the short interest in this speculative favorite ran into large figures. Traders took advantage of conditions to force a rally at the expense of the bears whose efforts to cover aided in placing stocks on a higher range.

Notwithstanding the firm under-tone of the market there was some further selling of stocks which have exhibited marked heaviness recently. Several stocks, including Pennsylvania and Jersey Central, touched new low records for the movement.
Canadian Pacific was sold persistently at one time falling back more than two points. Trading in Consolidated Gas was unusually active and stock was one of the strong features of the list.

Attacks of Indigestion

"I believe Chamberlain's Tablets have saved my life, writes Mrs. Maggie Coll, Golden City, Mo. 'I had pains in my stomach so bad I thought I could not live. Our doctor said it was congestion of the stomach. I would go to bed perfectly well and wake up in the night as bad as I could be and live. Our doctor said it would do no good to give medicine internally. He had to inject medicine in my arm. Since taking Chamberlain's Tablets I can eat anything I want without hurting me.' This form of indigestion is extremely painful and often dangerous. By taking Chamberlain's Tablets after eating, and especially when you have fullness and weight in the stomach after eating, the disease may be ward off and avoided. Chamberlain's Tablets not only aid digestion, but strengthen and invigorate the stomach."

NATURE-STUDY AND THE SCHOOL GROUNDS OF THE PRESENT DAY

Trees, Flowers and Shrubs, Arranged for Beauty, May at the Same Time Be Made the Means of Able and Interesting Instruction.

By A. Phelps Wyman, Former Assistant Professor of Landscape Gardening, University of Illinois.

Some studies must have laboratories for their greatest efficiency, and nature-study is one of these. The school grounds themselves may be such a laboratory. Every schoolyard ought anyway to be planted with trees and flowers and shrubs, and while the grounds are arranged for beauty they can at the same time be made a means of instruction in nature-study.

What features does a school ground require for beauty that it already has not now? Happily, beauty does not depend so much on extraneous things brought in, as in giving necessary objects a position that is useful and attractive and a form which fulfills its purpose. But in addition some few things may be added, and these are trees and flowers and shrubs. In the case of grounds where nature-study is the desideratum, there need not be planting additional to what is required for landscape gardening purposes.

For the primary arrangement of school grounds, one must go back to actual needs. The two chief objects are the school house and playground. The school house is best placed at one side so as to leave a liberal space for the playground. Then it is ready for the creation of a laboratory.

It is a first principle of landscape gardening to leave the space between the buildings and boundaries open and in grass, and to plant the borders. This is evidently necessary in the case of the playground and is quite as much so with other spaces. A few trees are needed to shade the building and the borders of the yard. A school yard is a bare place without them but they must not interfere with the playground. One must also study the protection they give from the wind and sun. It is of little use to plant trees on the north side of a building but they are needed on the south. Against the house and boundaries and about the sheds is the place for shrubs.

Trees may be studied from two points of view, their artistic and their botanical value. A study of the artistic qualities means a comprehension of their form, their texture and their colors. The oak has spreading branches, open and rugged in texture and has brilliant color in fall. Its vigor is expressed by the manner in which its buds and branches start out on all sides of their twigs and trunks. Botanically, this last point is interesting also. Its flowers are monococious, stamens are hanging catkins, and the fruit, an acorn, matures in one or two years, according to species. Its leaves are of interest from both standpoints and during the summer its branches exhibit more of the bony framework of the tree. It harbors all kinds of insect and fungi. Birds are at home in its branches in their season.

A still better laboratory for the study of bird life are the bushes planted around the borders. Birds love a thicket in which to build their nests and to hide. Such a thicket even attracts birds to its vicinity. Kinds may be selected which birds like especially for food, such as the mulberry. But other kinds may be selected for other interests, such as their fruit, both botanically and artistically. Like the barberry and cranberry, Others have striking bark, like dogwood, which should not be planted so plentiful. For an example of curious flowering there is the witch hazel, which blooms just before winter sets in. As a matter of fact, it makes little difference about selecting bushes for such a laboratory, for the kinds which are most unassumingly attractive and succeed best are just those which are best adapted to nature-study. There should be examples of native kinds like the dogwoods, the viburnums, hazels and winterberries. But if one can also obtain easily other kinds which are of foreign origin, but which have been used long enough so that they seem to belong to us, like the lilacs and weigelas, the planting is that much more enriched. They may be planted irregularly three or four feet apart and from two to three plants wide against the fences and schoolhouse and especially in the corners of the grounds making the kinds heaviest at the corners of the schoolhouse and lot.

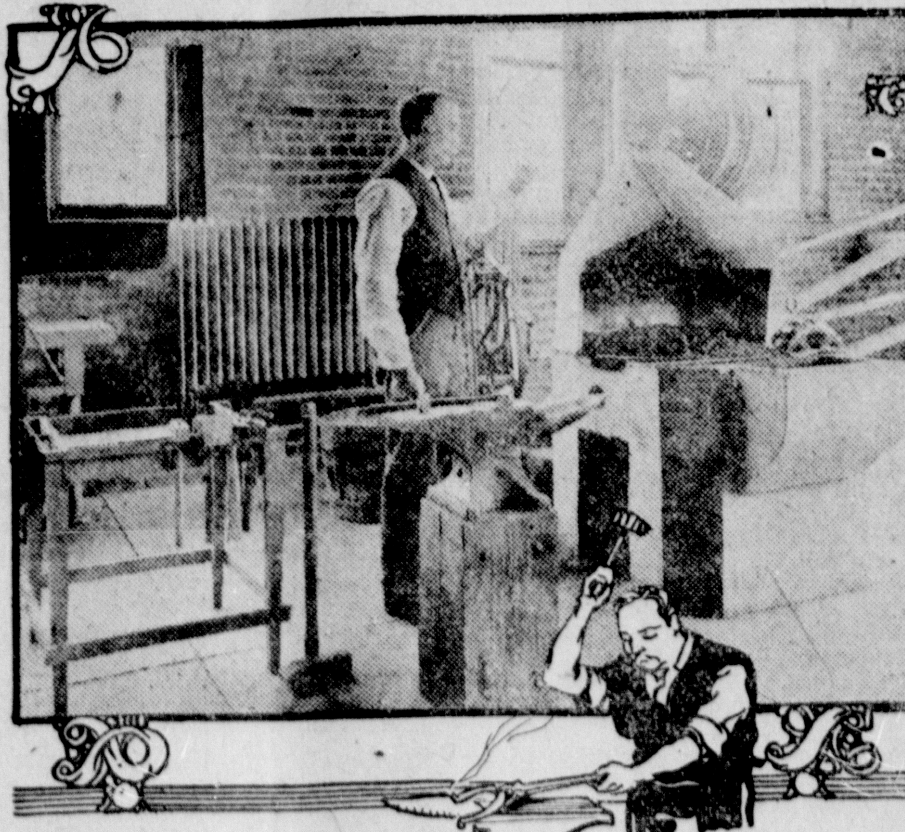

School is still in session when some of our finest flowers of the perennial class come into bloom. These are the plants which die to the ground every year but whose roots continue to live on and throw up stalks again. Flowers have more interest botanically than shrubs, and a place can easily be found for them.

Workshop Necessary to Farming.

By Andrew Tornquist, Laboratory Assistant, Farm Mechanics, University of Illinois.

Every farmer should have a shop equipped with a forge and a complete set of blacksmith tools. These need not be the most expensive, but should be of the right kind. On rainy days and times when outdoor work is not very urgent, time can be spent in the shop to good advantage. Parts of broken or worn machinery can be repaired, wagons put in running order, and many articles useful and convenient on the farm can be made. During harvest and threshing time, if any other, for the fire needs constant attention; the coal should be kept close to the iron. A forge for all purposes should be about three feet square. The tuyere iron should be placed in the center, with its top four inches below the level of the forge. The tuyere should be provided with a damper so the ashes can be cleaned out below in the ash pit. The forge can be built of brick or limestone; concrete has proven to be very good material for a forge. If concrete is used a box can be built in at one side to keep coal in for convenience in working. The blower thing about the machinery should be of good size as to get plenty of blast; it does not require much blast for heating small irons, but it takes a good deal for heavy work. Therefore it is better to have one of ample size than one that is too small. The pipe from blower to tuyere iron should be not less than three inches in diameter; the blower should be the kind that is operated with a lever, as to give the operator a chance to watch the iron and still be able to run the blower without having to stand back of the hood. If the workman has a helper it does not make much difference what kind of blower is used but most of the time a helper may not always be at hand.

The forge is the most important part of the shop. It should be so large that a pair of tongs will support themselves when holding a piece of iron to be heated, without falling to the floor. This will give the workman a chance to run the fan with one hand, and tend to the fire with the

THE WORLD'S LATEST FINANCIAL AND MARKET NEWS

UPTURN IN STOCK EXCHANGE PRICES

VOLUME OF BUSINESS SMALL AND MOVEMENT SLOW.

There Was Some Further Selling of Stocks Which Have Exhibited Marked Heaviness Recently—Absence of Selling Pressure Was an Important Feature of the Day's Trading.

(By Associated Press)
New York, May 13.—The drift of prices on the stock exchange was upward today and while the volume of business remained small and the movement was nothing more than a slow, creeping advance, the close of the session found not a few of the favorite shares a point or so higher than at the close yesterday. Speculation still reflected the reluctance of traders to commit themselves heavily on either side of the market so long as the unsolved problems of the present situation continue to obscure the outlook for securities. An important feature of the day's trading was the absence of selling pressure.

Stocks were scarce and it was inferred that made the technical condition comparatively strong. The borrowing of money for stock in particular was unusually heavy, and estimates of the size of the short interest in this speculative favorite ran into large figures. Traders took advantage of conditions to force a rally at the expense of the bears whose efforts to cover aided in placing stocks on a higher range.

Notwithstanding the firm undertone of the market there was some further selling of stocks which have exhibited marked heaviness recently. Several stocks, including Pennsylvania and Jersey Central, touched new low records for the movement. Canadian Pacific was sold persistently at one time falling back more than two points. Trading in Consolidated Gas was unusually active and stock was one of the strong features of the list.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is said to be devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness, Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, inoculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

GIVES HISTORY OF THE
"DOSHIHA" OF KYOTO

"ONE ENDEAVOR COMPANY" WAS FOUNDED IN 1875.

Jacksonville Tourist Writes of School and Biographical Sketch of Its Founder, Joseph Neesima.

Kyoto, Japan.

Dear Journal:
It is a constant source of pleasure to note the exceedingly practical work done by the missionaries in the fields to which they are sent. In this city there is an enterprise, whose value to the country can hardly be estimated. I refer to the "Doshisha,"
"One Endeavor Company," an institution organized in 1875 by the sainted Joseph Neesima and assisted to its present grand position by generous friends in America until now it goes almost alone, though the missionary board of the Congregational church helps supply the teaching force, sending here some noble men for the work.

Biographical.

Joseph Neesima was born in Tokyo, February 12, 1843, and when he was 10 years old he was first able to get a glimpse of the other world by the arrival of Perry's fleet and he was much stirred by what he saw and later when some Dutch warships visited the country he was eager to learn their language and was often flogged
by his employer for running away from the office to study and more than once he pored over his books all night. When he was 15 years of age he borrowed from a friend a wonderful book, the first sentence in which was,
"In the beginning God made the heavens and the earth."

He pondered long and frequently over that sentence. Who is God?
Was his oft repeated question of his parents, the prince who employed him and all of whom he could ask,
but they could give him no satisfaction.
He felt there was a God "to whom he owed allegiance and he longed to find Him. He says in after years he used to pray, "O, if thou hast eyes, see me; if thou hast ears, hear me and let me know thee." For six years he longed to know more of the Bible and for some one who could teach him its truths.

When he was 21 he received permission from a prince higher up than his employer to go to Hakodate, a distant port, hoping he might find there what he wanted, though his employer gave him a flogging for his asking. He told his mother when he left that he might be away a year,
but it was ten before he saw his native place again. He remained in Hakodate three months and was the teacher there of a Russian priest, now Archbishop Nikolai, and was faithful to his work, but he had heard of America and determined to visit that land in quest of the one great object of his life. He made a confidante of a young Japanese in a foreign store and through him secured permission to go on board the American brig "Berlin," then about to sail for Shanghai. It was an offense punishable with death to leave the country at that time, but the friend rowed the young fugitive to the ship in darkness and the captain and officers so effectually concealed him that the officials who came on board to look for him failed to find him. Arriving at Shanghai he managed to make a bargain with the captain of an American ship, the "Wild Rover," to work his way to Boston.
A kind Providence led him to this,
for the ship belonged to Hon. Alpheus Hardy, the merchant prince of whom it is said, "He worked to make money for God." This good man at once took the young fugitive and for ten years gave him the best education
the country afforded. Neesima soon embraced Christianity and studied at Phillips Academy and Amherst college and in 1870 entered Andover Theological seminary.

His country was awakening and his fame became known to his government and he was requested to join the Iwakura embassy in 1872
and visit the various capitals of Europe in search of all information that would be of benefit to Japan. His great ability and devoted attention to duty won for him the lasting esteem of the high officials with whom he was associated and they were his firm friends as long as he lived and to them is due the influence which enabled him to found the school which for years had been a favorite project with him. Just before his return to Japan he was invited to speak on the closing day of the annual meeting of the American Board of Missions in Rutland, Vermont, in October, 1873, and he made such an earnest plea for help to found the school so near to his heart that $5,000 was pledged him then and there.

He returned to Japan in 1874 and first of all made his aged parents a good visit and then while they preached the gospel boldly to all who would hear him, though it was a dangerous proceeding. He then went to Kobe and Osaka, where missionaries of the American Board had begun work and had organized two churches and there at Osaka tried for several months to get permission to open his school, but while the governor would have been glad to give him permission to do so, it would have been impossible for any missionary to teach in it and so the project so dear to his heart had to be abandoned.

Kyoto had been closed to foreigners for 250 years and for more than a thousand years had been the center of Buddhism and Shintoism and was the most bigoted city in the empire, but for each of the two preceding years it had been opened to foreigners for a hundred days during an exposition, while several of the missionaries had known the blind Yamamoto, the counselor of the governor of Kyoto and had given him Christian books so that he had taken much interest in Christianity and through his influence the governor gave his consent for Mr. Neesima to open his school in Kyoto, though he feared trouble.

After much effort permission was also gained for Rev. J. D. Davis and family to reside in Kyoto for a year and for Mr. Davis to teach in the school, and Mr. Neesima and the blind Yamamoto formed the first Japanese company under which the school was organized, and it was opened in a rented building with eight students, November 29, 1875,
and the name "Doshisha" was given
it.

Sunday, January 2, 1876, the ordinance
of baptism and the Lord's supper were observed for the first time in the city at the house of Mr.
Davis and Yamamoto and O. Yaye, sister of the blind Yamamoto, received baptism at that time and the next day, in the presence of all the members of the school, of the ex-governor or daimio of Tango, and his daughters, with other friends, including
Mr. Yamamoto's family, Mr.
Neesima and O. Yaye were married, the first Christian ceremony of the kind in the city.

There were ten thousand Buddhist and Shinto priests in the city and like the priests of old they saw their occupation would be gone and they would have to work for a living if the new doctrine prevailed and they banded together to crush the school and the governor joined them in the evil work, but Mr. Neesima said they had planted the standard of truth and would not retreat and said to Mr. Hardy that if that gentleman had not befriended a poor, runaway boy the work would not have been started. For six years the grand good man persevered and was aided by the Kumamoto band of thirty

Jimmy Ward to Thrill the Crowds

Big Race Meet Opens Today!

The biggest attraction ever offered in Jacksonville and vicinity will raise its curtain at 2:30 this afternoon at the Trotting park. Dare devils, aviators and speed burners of the track will thrill crowds in an exciting automobile, motorcycle and aeroplane races. Everything is in readiness, the machines are well assembled and tuned up and awaiting the signal to start this tremendous carnival of speed.

The big feature of the meet is Jimmy Ward who has thrilled immense crowds throughout the country and abroad with his death defying stunts, that he so ably executes. To see this daring bird man fly his shooting star as he calls his racing Curtis biplane with which he won all his victories and records, is well worth going many miles to witness. Among those that are entered in the automobile races are as follows: Warren Detroit, driven by Dick Siebring, who is holding the one and five mile speed record on circular track; Apperson Jack Rabbit driven by Speedy Kennell who won fame at Santa Monica race meet; National driven by Priole; Mark
head Buick, driven by Miss Matilda Brown, the only lady automobile racer; the Ford racing car driven by Blitzen Harper. The motorcycle races will be as spectacular as the balance of the performance, all the professional riders who thrilled
the crowds at the Chicago Motodrome last summer, are entered in the motor racing events. This will congregate almost every prominent rider that has made motor racing famous. The program will commence at 2:30 sharp and like a three ring circus, there will be something doing every minute.

No doubt you have heard a good deal said of the aerial mail. This is the first time Mr. Ward has allowed himself to carry mail in small cities
as this spectacular event is generally placed only at large aviation meets, which takes place in Chicago,
New York, and San Francisco. Those desiring to send mail to their friends through the country may place their letters in a pouch, which will be passed around at the grand stand and the letters will be taken by Mr. Ward up in the air and deposited in the nearest postoffice.
The letter will then go upon its way
in the regular course.

The following is the complete program:

Event 1—2:30 p. m., three mile motorcycle race for professional riders only.

Event 2—3:45 p. m., three mile
automobile race, racing cars only
of piston displacement 318 cubic inches or under.

Event 3—3 p. m., altitude and speed exhibition by the world's greatest aviator, Jimmie Ward, in his "Shooting Star," equipped with a sixty horse power, eight cylinder Curtis motor.

Event 4—3:15, five mile motorcycle race, professional riders only,
twin cylinder machines only, of piston displacement 61 cubic inches or under.

Event 5—Two mile match race between Miss Matilda Brown, the only lady racing driver, in a Buick, and a Warren Detroit driven by Dick Siebring, the holder of the one and five mile speed record in the state of Illinois.

Event 6—3:30, aerial mail delivery, with aviator Jimmie Ward as the official mail carrier. Notice—
Mail will be collected at 3 o'clock in the fair grounds.

Event 7—3:45 p. m., five mile
automobile race, racing cars only,
free for all.

Event 8—4 p. m.—Ten mile handicap motorcycle race, free for all.

Event 9—Ten mile automobile race, racing cars only, free for all.

Event 10—4:30 p. m., three mile handicap match race between the winner of the automobile races, the winner of the motorcycle races, and an aeroplane driven by the world's famous aviator, Jimmie Ward.

Notice—Extra events will be announced on the grounds.

This program is subject to changes, withdrawing the total cancellation if weather conditions are unfavorable. Performance will take place, rain or shine.

been that of $25,000 by non-Chris-

were not of his belief.

BUMPER BANANA CROP.

New Orleans, La., May 13.—After having chartered every vessel available, the United Fruit company finds itself unable to handle the great banana crop in tropical America. Their liners are coming into port every day loaded to capacity with fruit. The present crop has matured without damage from storms or other causes and owing to the increased acreage the production this year is far above any previous yield.

More bananas are now being consumed in Europe than ever before, though the consumption there is still far less than that of the United States. In New Orleans bananas form the chief food of the poor. Bunches too ripe to ship are selling as low as ten cents. The usual retail price here is from fifteen to twenty-five choice bananas for five cents.

FARM WORK RETARDED BY EXTREME DRY WEATHER

Corn Planting is Being Delayed and Oats Are Badly in Need of Rain—Wheat is Generally Good.

Farm work in Morgan county has been greatly retarded during the past few weeks on account of the extreme dry weather and although relief was promised yesterday in the gathering of clouds, thunder and brief shower, however it did not amount to very much and did not even settle the dust.

On account of the lack of moisture the ground that is freshly plowed, unless pulverized shortly afterward, soon dries out with the result that there is a field of large hard lumps. Grain that has been planted doesn't seem to do much good, some of it lying in the ground and not even showing signs of sprouting.

In speaking of conditions on his farm and in his neighborhood, E. A. Deaton, who resides five miles northeast of the city, said that while he has broken up 25 acres and planted it in corn, it was hard work. Oats in that neighborhood are needing rain, but there is no wheat in that locality. Some of the land that has been pulverized is in pretty good condition.

"We have 24 acres of wheat planted, that is looking fine," said George H. Lewis, superintendent of the County Farm, relative to conditions at that place. "This weather has been ideal for wheat and if we get a good rain this week there ought to be a good wheat crop this year. We only planted ten acres of oats and the ground was so dry and the grain looked so bad that we plowed it up."

Although the weather has been against preparing fields and planting corn, it is not very late, in fact there is yet plenty of time to get in a good crop. We have planted 16 acres but the weather has been so dry that it hasn't done very good. In some places the plant shows signs of coming through the ground, but the most of it hasn't even sprouted. If the land isn't worked down as soon as it is plowed, it dries up in a very short time. Any time during May is sufficiently early to plant corn, and although we used to figure on finishing by May 10, during the past ten years, May 20 has proven a good time. Grass and clover at the farm are looking very fine and I think we will have a large clover crop."

"Twenty three acres of oats out on my farm northwest of the city, like other fields or oats needs rain," said T. B. Fozzard. "Conditions are far from satisfactory on account of the dry weather but no doubt we will get rain and our corn is not planted but is ready for that work. Charles Hadden who is living on the Dewey farm west of Jacksonville has forty acres of corn planted."

John Hadden, whose farm is seven miles northwest of Jacksonville said in answer to a question that he has thirty acres of oats which greatly show the need of rain. He has no wheat this year and his corn is not planted but is ready for that work. Charles Hadden who is living on the Dewey farm west of Jacksonville has forty acres of corn planted.

W. H. Paschall is of the opinion that oats which were drilled in are very much better than those which were sowed broadcast as the drilled oats took good and so are able to stand the dry time better. Mr. Paschall has rented out most of his land but has some wheat which looks well and his corn land is ready for the planter.

H. P. Joy says that in the vicinity of Chapin the need for rain is just as apparent as in other part of the county. The oat crop however is about all that shows the need of rain and that is because some fields hardly had a chance to sprout. Wheat says Mr. Joy seems to be uniformly in good shape and there is no sign of a fly in it yet.

W. H. Meseley is one of the Morgan county farmers who is looking up at the sky each day and hoping for rain and for the very good reason that he has 140 acres of oats which looks fine and he has seventy acres of corn already planted. Pastures according to Mr. Meseley are also beginning to show the effects of dry weather.

We have every style and fabric in new 1913 wash dresses now on sale. Priced low.

CIGAR MAKERS' AND FACTORY OWNERS REACH AGREEMENT

Work at McCarthy-Gebert Plant is to Continue in Uninterrupted Way—Settlement Satisfactory to all Parties Concerned.

The statement was made Tuesday that the differences between the Cigar Makers Union and the McCarthy-Gebert Co., had been settled in a satisfactory way and that work at the factory will proceed in an uninterrupted way. Walter Smith, president of the Cigar Makers union said yesterday that he could not make any extended statement or go into details but that an agreement had been reached which was pleasing to both parties to the transaction. A. J. Gebert of the firm when asked about the settlement said last night that it was not a matter about which he could particularize but said that the agreement had been reached and was satisfactory. He intimated that employers and employees met in an entirely conciliatory way and that there were some mutual concessions. Mr. Gebert said further for the firm that he was exceedingly glad that an agreement had been reached. Further he said that there is no intention to shut down the shop a little later on as had been intimated from some source but that on the contrary, business is developing satisfactorily and the demand for the products of the factory increasing. There is every reason to believe that the McCarthy-Gebert shop will go grinding along with a large force of helpers.

The business community of Jacksonville, in fact the people as a whole will sincerely rejoice that the threatened trouble at the factory has disappeared and that there is to be no shut down of this important industry. The public has not been informed of all details but the fact that the public is interested in is the big one, that the factory is to be busy.

CAN'T PULL 'EM APART.
A severe test of the tenacity of the cloth and the quality of the stitching in a pair of trousers is being made in one of the show windows at the Tomlinson clothing store where one leg of a pair of trousers is suspended from a cord in the ceiling and to the other leg is hung a keg of nails weighing 105 pounds. Rather a severe test, but the garment appears to stand the strain.

The newer styles in straw hats are shown by Garland & Co.

Elmer Roberts of Franklin was transacting business in the city yesterday. He is local manager of the Franklin Furniture and Undertaking company and the firm is putting an addition to their building there, the brick work already having been completed.

I. AND R. FAILS BY SINGLE VOTE

he expected the members to remain in session all night if it became necessary to finish up the matter before the house.

Amid cries for the "previous question" Representative King and other Republicans offered further amendments. Loudly pounding his gavel for order Speaker McKinley declared:

"Every member will be treated fairly in this house, but I refuse to have the members jamming in amendments here all night."

Calls Speaker Tyrant.
Representative King refused for a time to take his seat. With scores of members on their feet shouting and gesticulating, the speaker insisted that the call for the previous question "was in order and ruled Representative King out of order." "You're a tyrant," shouted King as he waved his fist at the speaker.

After several minutes of disorder that promised to result seriously, the members resumed their seats and the roll call was called to decide whether the motion of the previous question should prevail. The vote on Representative Karch's motion to resume the previous question resulted, ayes 74, nays 56, and the previous question was ordered.

Representative Lucas I. Butts of Peoria, Republican, asked for a short recess to enable the Republican members to hold a final caucus. Permission was granted and the Republicans entered their caucus room at 11:30 p. m.

Decide to Refrain From Voting.
The Republican conference ended at 11:45 p. m. The Republicans decided to refrain from voting on the passage of the resolution until the house rescinds its action in shutting off amendments by adopting Karch's motion for the previous question. Republican Leader Shanahan reported the conference action to the house.

Karch moved to reconsider the vote, and Speaker McKinley declared the motion carried under the gavel.

Karch's motion was received with jeers and guffaws by the Republicans. Representative George H. Wilson then presented the two amendments which had been kept out by Karch's motion, for the previous question. These provided that not less than 50 per cent of all the votes are either for an act to be initiated or upon referendum shall be cast by electors residing outside of Cook county. The purpose of the amendments was to prevent Cook county from carrying a referendum.

On Representative Graneau's motion both amendments were tabled. Ayes 99, nays 32. The house clock was stopped at 11:55.

Shavers Amendment Tabled.
An amendment offered by Representative Shaver, providing that the governor, attorney general and secretary of state constitute a board to pass upon the sufficiency of every petition was tabled, ayes 83; nays 47.

Representative Pervier's amendment requiring 33 per cent of all votes cast at the election to initiate legislation was tabled. Ayes 85; nays 44.

Another amendment by Pervier, limiting the number of measures to be voted on at one time to five was tabled on motion of Igoo. Ayes 81; nays 41.

ENLARGING QUARTERS.
Newman and son have leased the Rowe building to the east of their present automobile quarters and it will be fixed up in a modern way. This will give the firm additional room for twenty-five cars.

Washington, May 13. — The dangerous counterfeit Indian head five dollar certificate recently discovered continues in circulation despite the vigilance of secret service and treasury officials. The notes, which are almost perfect imitations of the genuine, are finding their way through banks and even the sub-treasury at New York.

The notes are printed on genuine paper, obtained by washing one dollar bills.

Clinton, Ia., May 13. — Two storms one from the east, the other from the south, met at Maquoketa this morning. They blew down the tent of a circus and toppled over wagons. Four show employees were injured, one fatally. No other damage was done.

"VUDOR" PORCH SHADES

Vodor Porch Shades are equally well adapted to the great mansion and the modest cottage, and will transform a sun-beaten porch into a cool, shady retreat, and you will get the full benefit of the porch to make it what it should be—a comfortable outdoor living room, cool and shady in the hottest weather, secluded and private.

Vudor PORCH SHADES

Not only make your porch Cool by Day but cool adjoining rooms, and give you by night a perfect Sleeping Porch

In the production of Vudor Porch Shades no effort has been spared; first, to design a shade with the strips and the space between them so proportioned as to keep out the sun but to let in the breeze; to prevent outsiders from seeing in, while permitting insiders to see out, and at the same time make a shade that has stability with lightness and beauty.

Second, in selecting the best materials for their respective purposes, a fine quality of wood-fibre was chosen for the strips or slats, because it has strength, flexibility and lightness, and because it is a good non-conductor of heat.

Vudor PORCH SHADES

Not only make your porch Cool by Day but cool adjoining rooms, and give you by night a perfect Sleeping Porch

For binding these strips together seine twine, such as is used for fishing nets, was chosen because of its strength and wear-resisting qualities. Even the cords used for raising and lowering Vudor Porch Shades are of special manufacture, being what is known as "half-twist" cord. This cord does not curl nor loop up and stick in the pulleys as common twist cord would do. The pulleys furnished with Vudor Porch Shades are of japanned iron and of ample size to permit of the cords running through them easily and freely.

Another good feature about Vudor Porch Shades is the peculiar fact that those sitting on the porch or veranda can see out, but the passersby cannot see in. In other words, you have complete privacy, and can use the porch or veranda the same as an inside room, with infinitely more comfort on hot days than any room can possibly afford.

We have these in stock in all widths, in the Baronial brown and forest green colors.
